Mr. P. Kumaran Ezhuthassan (Wadakkancheri).—May I know, Sir, whether you are not seriously considering the question of removing from your C. S. R. article 139-B which is a creature only 4 years old and with a purpose?

Mr. P. V. Subramania Ayyar (Comptroller of Accounts).—I have already answered that.

Mr. President.—It is under consideration.

Now, Sir, before we proceed further, I have to make a request. In the light of the various questions and in the light of the innumerable suplementary questions that we have at times to put and regard being had to the limited time we have for questions I propose to place a suggestion for the favourable consideration of the Chair. Without doing violence to any Parliamentary practice and in order that we may get a little more time for putting supplementary questions, what I suggest is this. Now the Hon'ble Member who has put the question gets up and says 'question No. so and so'. Then some time is taken for the whole answer being read out by the Government Member concerned. At times, pretty long answers have to be read out. That system of reading out the answers in full may be avoided and that time be given to us, so that we may attack the Government with some more questions.

Mr. President.—I will consider that question.
